
Hello im new to the site

Posted by TomSmellie - 2008/03/19 14:52

Hello my name is Tom Smellie, I was working on the bungalow buildings at the Ashley vale site last year and am looking to get involved with doing a self build project of my own now. I would love to come to the next meeting about things and meet the other people getting things together in the Bristol area, i know a few of you already... Are there any plans for another meeting in the near future????

=====

Re:Hello im new to the site

Posted by jackson - 2008/03/19 18:28

Hi Tom

Welcome to the site.:)

We are currently keeping our eyes peeled for an appropriate site, and working though some of the mechanisms so that when a site comes available we are ready to role.

It would be good have an extra pair of eyes checking whats about.

No immediate plans for meet, but that don't mean one can't be sorted. Selim is away for a few weeks, so we can sort one out on his return. Meanwhile you can always post anything you think interesting for others in relation to self build, etc.

If you down on the ashley vale site, you can always pop round.

Nice one, laters Jackson

=====