

Ecomotive at Glastonbury 2010

Ecomotive is at Glastonbury Festival again this year to help celebrate its 40th Birthday.

If you are attending the festival and would like to visit us, we will be in the Croissant Neuf field.

We have exciting information on Bristol projects and community land trusts, as well as advice and info on sustainable building, code for sustainable homes and energy ratings.

Not only do we have all the information and advice that Ecomotive can provide, but we also have info on Ecological Land Cooperative (ELC) check out: www.ecologicalland.coop; We have the Rowanbank crew who provide workshops and courses that inspire and empower, check out www.rowanbank.org.uk.

We also have 'The Bright Light' providing shadow puppetry, intimate stories of life and connections with the places we live, displayed through the timber structure.

We have been building the timber structure over the last few days, and this year we have been supported, by Travis Perkins with some FSC ply sheets for the roof, Tom for all the amazing plants, and the lovely people at Pieminister to keep us fed. Land Logic Timber provided us with the timber for the structure, and Solarsense have kindly provided us a solar PV panel and kit, to power our tools and for lighting throughout the festival.

We are of course in the Croissant Neuf field where everything is powered from renewables.
